CALGARY TO HAVE INDUSTRIAL SHOW

IS TO OPEN JUNE 30 AND CONTINUE
FOR EIGHT

Calgary, May 22.—The prize list of the Calgary industrial exhibition is now in the hands of the exhibitors, and entries have already begun to arrive. Everything is very busy at the grounds in Victoria Park. Supt. R. J. Harris has large gangs of men employed in the construction of the new stock pavilion and stables for which the ratepayers of Calgary recently voted $55,000. The parks board of the city is expending $8,000.00 in beautifying the park, and the result will be a pleasant surprise to visitors to the exhibition. The new dog building is nearly completed and the accommodation offered to dog exhibitors this year will be far in advance of previous years.

The alterations in the administration building for the purpose of making permanent offices at the park, have deprived the fire and police departments of their usual accommodations. They will be provided with new quarters under the east end of the grand stand.

The space in the industrial building and art building is practically all spoken for, and the manager is being besieged with inquiries for space for the usual supply of refreshment stands and eating booths.

Burglars Break Into Store at Strathcona Disarrange Stock

FAILING TO FIND MONEY IN THE CASH DRAWER OF LENDRUM BROS. ESTABLISHMENT. THIEVES
SCATTER GOODS ABOUT PROMISCUOUSLY.

Evidently suspecting that they might find concealed cash in the store register, the burglars, after dark, entered the Lendrum Bros. establishment on Whyte avenue in Strathcona, some time Friday night, probably early Saturday morning. While the thieves failed to get any money they succeeded in making things up generally inside the store and putting the proprietors to more trouble than they have had in some time.

Entrance to the store was effected through the rear door, the burglars gaining easy access by removing a glass in the door and sliding the bolt to one side. To all appearances they ransacked about everything inside the store. The cash register was opened and finding nothing of value there, the burglars turned their attention to the big stock of goods that make the counters and shelves fairly groan with their burden. And they made no effort to cover their nefarious work, throwing goods' furnishings around the floor very carelessly, in a manner indicating that they had absolutely no fear for the feelings of the owners of the stock.

Little property was stolen, the burglars being satisfied to take only what they could carry away conveniently. Lendrum Bros. and their employees spent nearly all day Saturday morning hustling the scattered stock and putting the store in presentable shape again, the process of restoring order out of chaos involving no small task.

It is believed the burglary occurred after midnight. One of the proprietors occupies apartments over the store, and as he did not retire until a late hour it is thought the burglars confined their operations to the late part of the night. The wonder is that their work failed to disturb Mr. Lendrum's slumbers, leading color to the belief that the thieves were not novices, the experience they had gained in the business giving them the advantage of working stealthily and unobserved.

The burglary was reported to the police officers who have been looking for a clue that might lead to the identity of the men responsible for the crime.

CORONATION ROBES AND THEIR COST

Those of George IV. Cost, $100,000—
Famine in Furs is Probable

The bill for the Coronation robes of George IV. was $100,000. Of this $55,000 fell to the share of the furrier; and we are told that the feet of no fewer than 6,000 Astrakhan lambs were required to make the black spots on the inside of the robes.

No wonder that every Coronation has been a famine in furs, for not only Astrakhan lambs, but black fox, sable, and, above all, ermine, are required in immense quantities for the robes of those who are privileged to attend the Coronation service in Westminster Abbey.

For months past agents have been busy in Siberia and elsewhere buying up ermine, and the price is already doubling the ordinary. One hundred and twenty ermine skins are required by each pair for his Coronation cape and collar.

Judging by the Coronation of the late King Edward VII., no other coronation cases such a boom in trade, and lots of things besides furs are going to become scarce and expensive before June.

In 1902 seats were provided for 92,250 people in public stands, and the stands themselves cost $250,000. Every hotel in London will be full from basement to attic, and lodgings will be at a premium. Those who come late will be lucky if they pay less than $25 a night for a bed.

Houses, too, will be scarce. In the year of the last Coronation Lord Tweedmouth received $20,000 rent for Brook House just for the season; the Marquis of Eglar refused $25,000 for their house in Grosvenor Crescent, and a house in Grosvenor Place brought $75,000 for four months.

Today motorists have largely superseded the horse and carriage, but one almost shudders to think what a price will have to be paid for a car during Coronation week. Certainly nothing will be procurable under $50 a day, and the prices may run far beyond this.

Ten years ago there was an absolute corner in hands. Certain invited parties retained all the good hands, and people who wanted music had to pay a pretty price.

So, too, with fireworks. The demand for Coronation rockets was simply enormous. All the larger towns spent on an average $1,000 apiece on fireworks, and the private demand was very large. It will be remembered that there were hundreds of Coronation bonfires, and at each fifty rockets were sent up.

The bonfires recall the fact that far-barrels were not to be had for love nor money for some days before the last Coronation. They were all absorbed by early buyers.

FORGED MESSAGE; LYNCHED NEGROES

Lake City, Mo., May 22.—Six negroes were lynched here early this morning after a party of more than a dozen men, masquerading as officers appeared at the county jail and secured possession of ten men by presenting a forged telegram to the 16-year old son of the sheriff ordering the release of the blacks to the alleged posse of officers.

A meeting of the point committees on amalgamation of the two cities will hold a meeting in the Strathcona council chamber this evening at eight o'clock. The work which will be taken up at this session has not been outlined as yet and the discussion will follow along general lines with a view to mapping out some of the more salient points to be considered before the amalgamation of the two cities can become a reality.

Sinister Sidelight on Investigation

When George E. Foster, the most investigated man in Canada and who should therefore be an oracle on the topic of investigations, was speaking in the house on the manner of the Oliver investigation, he said that the paragraphs published in the Toronto World furnished Oliver with something which he could deny and he therefore promptly cast everything else aside and said: "We will investigate this."

Subsequently the investigation takes the shape which proves that the Fosterian assay was correct. It is not something that should be investigated that the investigation proposes to deal with, but something which Oliver believes cannot be proven.

One point, however, is interesting in this connection. The Toronto World is notoriously favorable to Mackenzie & Mann. When in the investigation it was proposed to bring the World staff in and discover the origin of the paragraph which insinuated that Oliver had received the money from Mackenzie & Mann for the transfer of the Southeastern grant the Oliver forces threw several fits about the irregularity of such a proceeding.

Does not this look just a trifle sinister?

Unless the Oliver forces are of opinion that the World paragraphs were published at the behest of Mackenzie & Mann in order to furnish something to be investigated which would at the same time give Mackenzie & Mann a clean bill of health and furnish Oliver with something which he could disprove, what object could the Oliver forces have in seeking to exclude evidence to show the origin of the World story?

The Cement Merger Humpbacked With Carrying Load of Water

Grover Cleveland was the man who said that "after all, the tariff is only a local issue," but the experience which Western Canada and Edmonton in particular is having with the cement trust just now indicates that Grover's assertion was scarcely sufficiently sweeping.

When the cement trust went into business it took practically all the existing plants in Canada. Max Aitken, the Canadian who got himself into the British house and used his position there to tell the Old Country people that Canada's system of protection should be adopted by the old country, an idea with which we can now readily understand he was enamored, made his millions out of the promotion of the cement merger.

In offering their stock to the public the promoters argued that they could make cement cheaper with the mills all under one management and that they could charge a higher price on account of the monopoly.

As far as the rise in price was concerned, the company carried out that part of its programme to the letter.

Aitken and his friends mixed several millions of water with the cement merger stock and proceeded to boost the price of cement all over Canada so as to make the consumer pay the promoter.

When it came to cheaper production, the company fell down deplorably. The arrangement was that each mill should supply its own territory. Edmonton and Alberta generally was parcelled off to the Exshaw plant. The Exshaw plant has failed to produce the required amount and Edmonton, at the opening of what should have been the biggest building year in the history of the city, is without cement, practically not a barrel being available in town.

But while the merger, with its millions of water and its great promise of reorganizing the industry, is unable to supply the market even at its own price, the market is preserved to it by a tariff of 50 cents a barrel. The cement merger's prospectus promised a profit of $2,000,000 on four million barrels of cement—just exactly the amount of the tariff.

So while Max Aitken talks tariff reform to the Britishers, the Canadian tariff makes it possible for his merger, hump-backed with carrying a load of water, to tie the country up through its failure to deliver. With the tariff off the cement merger would flatten out like an exploded bomb and the cities of the west would have no further difficulty in getting cement.

And yet there are those who argue—and claim to believe—that the tariff fosters industry.

JUST PARAGRAPHS.

On the day on which the supreme court judgment was given declaring the Standard Oil a combination in restraint of trade the A. P. dispatches announced that the judgment would dismember the Standard Oil monopoly. On the same day Standard stock advanced 5½ points on the New York market. John D. Rockefeller announced that the monopoly would obey the order to the letter, Judge Gary, head of the steel trust, said that the judgment was satisfactory, and W. J. Bryan said that it was all wrong. The public may now wait with perfect confidence for the appearance of the joker.

While Mr. Bouillon took considerably more words to do it with, his answer to the charges made by the council could easily have been contained in the clause with which Frank Oliver qualified Joe Adair.

An investigation to resolve that there is no proof that Frank Oliver did not get the $50,000 and the $19,500 from MacKenzie and Mann—all other forms of investigation strictly prohibited—is about the way Frank intends that it shall work out.

President Diaz has promised to resign within a month. No definite date has yet been announced by Mr. Bouillon.

SELLS SILVER FOX PELT FOR $500

C. W. WONAOTT, WELL KNOWN TRAPPER, DISPOSES OF VALUABLE FUR.

An extra large silver fox, half black, brought into the city last evening from the Lesser Slave lake, by C. W. Wonaott, a well-known northern trapper, was purchased by J. K. Cornwall, M. P., this afternoon, for $500. The animal is half black, or a much higher figure would have been brought by the sale.

"The past winter has been one of the worst trapping seasons on record," said Mr. Wonaott in conversation with the Capital this afternoon. "The catch of the average trapper does not amount to more than $20 for the whole season, and I have been fortunate in securing one valuable fur." In addition to the silver fox, I secured 30 rats and one red fox and forty weasels."

During the summer, Mr. Wonaott hopes to obtain a job as an engineer on one of the Canadian routes. Before he went into the trapping business he was engaged for a number of years on the Michigan Central. In the fall he will again set out for the wilds, where he will spend the winter in trapping in the Pine River country. He left Edmonton last fall on Oct. 27.

THE SECOND RICHEST LANDOWNER IN WORLD TO RESIDE AT BROOKS

Duke of Sutherland is Moving Summer Home in South and Establishing a Colony

Brooks, Alta., May 22.—Brooks will yet be famous as the summer home of the second richest landowner in the world, and one of the highest of the English nobility, the Duke of Sutherland, who some time since bought several sections of land of the C. P. R., a short distance northeast of the village for the purpose of building a home for himself and establishing a ready-made farm colony for a large number of Scotch farmers. The contractor, Mr. Thompson, is here and has been working on a $10,000 residence for the duke. Sixty thousand feet of lumber will be used in the building and will be furnished by the Crown Lumber Co., Ltd. The house will be built in the English style and will contain fifteen rooms, four of them in the centre of the building upstairs. It is probable that a number of houses on the ready-made farms will be built this season. This work is being done by the colonization department of the C. P. R. The Duke of Sutherland will be here soon after the completion to inspect his possessions. The deep water wells have been down on his ranch and the C. P. R. will pipe eas from Brooks to the buildings. The location is ideal, overlooking the surrounding country, and the ducal home will be in full view from the railroad and will no doubt attract much attention.

RAILWAY ACTIVITY AT PRICE ALBERT

Price Albert, May 22.—While it has been generally understood that the Grand Trunk Pacific would complete their grading line to Price Albert this year up to the present there has been no definite announcement. Now, however, it has been definitely stated that this work will be completed. Not only will the company finish the grading, but they expect to have the steel laid and trains running into Price Albert before next winter.

It is understood that the G. T. P. will not wait for winter to commence building their line across the South Saskatchewan, but will commence building at once.

Contractor Dan Sutherland, who has the grading contract, was in the city for a couple of days and has now gone out to his work. He has 18 miles of work south of the river to finish and as soon as he has this covered he will start work between Price Albert and the river. He expects at the latest to start work on this end in two months.

C. P. R. Coming.
It has been learned by a very good authority that the C. P. R. have made up their minds to try and get into Price Albert as soon as possible, and that the work of grading their line from Calmar to this city, on which considerable work has already been done, will be rushed to completion.

FADS AND FASHIONS

New York, May 20.—A new era of popularity seems to be in store for the "tailored suit" of the shirt and tie. French dressmakers is authority for the prediction that the next year will be a great revival of the separate blouse and skirt combination, and only so far as the tailored suit and waist are concerned, but for other wear. Regarding of what the future may bring, the luxurious little blouse of sheer stuff and daisy design is a very essential part of the spring, and each blouse model that one sees seems more charming and more fascinating than the last.

As the weather grows warmer, more and more the blouses of actually washable materials appear under tailored coats. It is quite necessary to specify "actually washable" materials, as many of the so-called "lily" blouses would never stand a single washing. The colored embroideries of the cheaper blouses are by no means always fast. The lovely velvet and marquisette blouses also often prove delusions, for this fabric, as many people know, never stops shrinking. A voile waist should always be purchased several sizes too large and the excess of material may sometimes be taken up, for the first two or three weeks of wear, in little pin tucks which may be incorporated in the design of decoration.

Even the most expensive qualities of this fashionable veiling fabric shrink more or less as time goes on; but so beautiful is the soft, transparent material, and so gracefully does it mold the lines of shoulders and arm that it is certain to remain in favor for the more dressy type of waists; though for practical, everyday wear, lawn or balise models that may be sent to the wash tub without any qualms are much more satisfactory.

The Magyar type, with its scabbard shoulder and sleeve and its loose fall of material from shoulder to waist, continues to be the favorite blouse style. Nearly all waists shown in the shops are embroidered more or less elaborately. Many show the embroideries in vivid shades of emerald green, a rather vivid shade, which goes with white cord is another favorite color. This warm pink shade, containing a suggestion of yellow, is also called "Helen pink," but this name is wrong, as Helen pink is of an outspoken, pale rose tint. Sixteenths of the voile blouses show a touch of cord in the embroidered pattern.

There are scores of blouses made of silver embroidery and most of the blouses are exceedingly simple, the embroidery being handsome enough to serve as trimming and just a trifle of some fine lace being added at neck and sleeve edge as a finish. Pichus are worn with many of these simple tube blouses and sometimes a fichu and blouse are trimmed alike—a very pretty notion. So popular is the fichu with its graceful drapery over the bust and its lovely lines over shoulder and arm that the style is being copied in blouses of a more dressy material.

Sashes and corsets are important details in a large percentage of the new season's blouses, while belts, for the time being, are comparatively speaking, in eclipse. The shortened waist line is of course responsible for this state of things. The one-piece frock almost invariably has its waist line raised at least a few inches and finished by some simple arrangement, lines of corded shirring or an ornamental finish on the skirt top; while with the separate waist and skirt, a combination always associated with trim belts, the dress-makers achieve a short waisted effect by raising the top of the skirt two or three inches and holding it in place with an inner girdle. Most of the tailored skirts are made of absolute plainness or with some narrow line of braiding or other trimming.

In spite of this tendency there are many skirts ending at the normal waist line and there is no denying that the woman naturally short of waist line and ample of curves looks very much better in a tailored skirt trimly belted at the natural waist line. The ordinary separate tub skirt too is much more practical when made with a waist band than when raised and finished with the supporting inner girdle, and so there is still a demand for smart belts, though that demand is less insistent than usual.

Wide soft belts of black satin, more or less inclined to be more in evidence than belts of leather in the exclusive shops and colored belts in these materials are also shown. They are uncovered with the material and a newly finished with large flat buckles note this spring is a flat buck of the material laid under the buckle. A similar flat bow often appears also at the back of a belt under a round, oval, or rectangular buckle or buckle. The same bow and buckle idea is carried out in the soft leathers and even in patent leather, but with less pleasing results than in the case of the silk belts.

Some very handsome white belts on these lines are touches of embroidery in black or in color on the silk covered buckles and there are, of course, many silk belts with beautiful metallic or jeweled buckles, but these, while often extremely expensive are hardly so good looking for present belt purposes as the more severe designs.

The popularity of white and black combinations has brought about an artificially large showing in white leather belts finished in black patent leather. There are many wide, soft belts of fine dull finish leather or suede in all of the modish colorings. These at their best have the big, flat, plain buckles covered with the leather, but occasionally a good arrangement of straps is used and some attractive effects are obtained with fine steel embroidery.

The head embroidery prevalent this year finds a place among the belts, sometimes showing in entire buckles, sometimes merely bordering narrowly their elms and buckle edges. Certain leather belts with small, precious stones are very handsome in their way, but must be knowingly worn with just the right frock.

New evening corsets that fit and enclose the figure like an armor are said to be extremely comfortable. Made of silk-velvet jersey cloth as pliable as a glove, and as strong as satin, they are cut very low above the belt. Aside from the front steel and the support for back lacing, they are practically boneless; only one bone is placed at each side, over the hips. The corset lengthens to the knees, shaping into a leg, open on the inside; an elastic strap set half-way between thigh and knee holds it about the leg; the lacing bones reach to the lower edge, curving with the body. This corset aims to preserve the slender silhouette, nothing being worn over it except the trifle of lace and ribbon that serves for a chemise. Instead of the usual narrow colored ribbons used for service and in the adornment of this garment, wide ribbons are worn, banding it and drawing into the scheme of decoration of the soft, transparent corseage.

The closing meeting of the school literary society was held in the High school building on Friday night. The gathering took the form of a social, and an excellent programme of musical numbers, vocal and instrumental, was carried out.

At a special meeting of the school board on Saturday evening, increases in salary were granted to the teachers of the high schools of the city. The new schedule will give an increase of $100 to the high school principals and teachers during the coming year.

A. Patterson, formerly manager of the Edmonton Concert company, left with an outfit on Saturday morning for Grande Prairie, accompanied by his family. Mr. Patterson has a letter from his son who has been there since the opening of spring.

MONOPLANE CLAIMS ANOTHER VICTIM

At this moment it was observed by the commandant of the troops that the crowd were breaking the line on one side of the field, and he despatched a trooper to get them back in line.

The ensigns displayed across the field, breaking into double lines as they went.

Train's monoplane had swooped toward the earth under the impulse of an air flurry, and it appears as though the aviator was about to dash into the cavalry. The pilot seemed momentarily to have been diverted from his course, and he made a quick turn to the left, toward where the party of officials were standing. Then he lost control of the craft altogether, and it dashed violently into the ministerial group.

The Death Crash.

The impact knocked M. Bertheaux ten feet away, where he lay in a pool of blood, hardly moaning, while under the wreckage of the monoplane lay Premier Monks, his son, and M. Deutsch. Train and M. Bonnier emerged from the wreck unhurt.

A scene of frightful confusion followed the fall of the monoplane. From all parts of the aviation field cries of alarm and dismay, and tens of thousands of people broke through the lines and moved toward the scene of the accident. The cavalry, however, by repeated charges, managed to clear the field, and the injured men were given first aid to the injured treatment by the field surgeons. From the first it was seen that M. Bertheaux was seriously injured. After the minutes had been feared for the surgeons deemed the wounds of those who had received minor bruises.

There are various versions as to the cause of the accident, but everyone seems to agree that it occurred with such frightful rapidity that there was no time for M. Bertheaux, M. Monks and the others injured to escape.

Premier May Rescued.

Paris, May 22.—The latest statement issued by the attending physician last night indicates that in all probability Premier Monks will recover. Prof. Lannelongue and Drs. Bussier and Groussu issued a bulletin to the effect that the abdominal pain the system inhaled and that the condition of the patient continued favorable.

Prof. Lannelongue in a more detailed statement said the injuries to Mr. Monks are although serious were not very grave. He two years ago said that the premier would be able to walk in two months.

Paris, May 22 in Mourning.

Paris, May 22.—The funeral of M. Bertheaux, which is expected to take place on Friday, will be conducted with full national honors. Mr. Groussu, minister of war, will be issued a general order that the army shall observe mourning for one month.

Speculation is rife concerning the purely traumatic school was not dissimilar at the present time in this city.

STRATHCONA NEWS

Strathcona, May 22.—No effort that will lend itself to making more complete the Dominion day sports programme in Strathcona this year is being spared by the special committee in charge. Although scarcely a fortnight has elapsed since their appointment by council, this committee, consisting of Messrs. A. McLean, F. G. Jamieson and V. T. Belcher, has already prepared a particularly attractive draft outline of the entertainment menu for the day, and if given sanction by the council this programme will be perfected as quickly as possible and advertising matter put into circulation.

Several hundred dollars are being counted on for the horse-racing purses, and the excellence of the track should be still further inducement for owners of really fast animals to make entry for some of the events. Owing to the annual meet of the A. A. A. in Edmonton on July 1st, it is felt somewhat early to predict the attractions in the athletic line. It is, however, felt that the committee are making strong endeavors to put on some new features in this connection and there is little doubt that Strathcona's programme of athletic events will be a drawing feature of the celebration. At least $1600 will be offered in prizes and purses during the day.

As an adjunct to the activities of the sports committee the council are making strong endeavors to put on an exhibition park in splendid shape for July 1st. Tenders are now being asked for the erection of a new grandstand and the building of fences about the grounds and track can be let without delay. A grandstand, which will be built within the next month capable of holding 1000 persons. Surrounding the twenty acres of athletic ground a high board fence will be erected by the middle of next month. By this time it is also likely that new fencing will be in place on the race course on both sides.

C. P. R. Right of Way.

To J. Taylor, engineer of the district court will be referred for decision a problem involving the actual price of high-bred land in Strathcona, which is close in within the limits of Strathcona. Although pier work has already been begun by the company on the land in question, there are some slighter over three acres of property to be purchased by the C. P. R.

Speaking in the morning at the Methodist church and in the evening at the Presbyterian church, Mr. A. B. O'Dell, of the University of Alberta yesterday explained to citizens just what the heading Camps association is doing and why it is expected that a great many of the interested citizens will be on hand to watch proceedings.

No clue has yet been obtained as to the identity of the burglars who rifled the store of Leonard Bros. on Whyte avenue last Saturday morning. The thieves appeared to have been well-known and did considerable damage to the store. The store was broken into by a rear door. The store is owned by the C. P. R. and will be about the summer vacation in the east.

Mrs. Wm. Groat, formerly of Strathcona, but now in Vancouver, is visiting in the city with relatives and friends.

TECHNICAL WORK IN CITY SCHOOLS

SUPERINTENDENT, AFTER VISITING EASTERN INSTITUTIONS, SUBMITS REPORT TO BOARD

Recommendations as to technical training in the city schools, based on the information gained during a tour of the eastern provinces and states, were presented to the school board on Saturday evening by Supt. McCall of the city schools. Mr. McCall advised the establishment of advanced work in the high school, to occupy one hour per week, and optional for one or two years. He recommended the inclusion of simple domestic science plants in the high school or public schools for the special help of backward boys, girls of young women and young men, in such subjects as English, calculation and drawing, which might develop into trade work in the course of time when a plant for the teaching of carpentry, blacksmithing and machine shop work can be established.

The recommendation made to the school board by Mr. McCall as the result of a four months' tour of the east, in which he conducted a thorough investigation into every phase of technical education. Special pressure, however, was laid on the necessity of forcing educationalists to incorporate new interest in technical education and that the inevitable changes might be brought about in an evolutionary rather than a revolutionary manner, he recommended that the school board should take the question in hand immediately.

Public schools should not be made industrial in the narrow sense. On the contrary every effort should be made to promote general training for the sake of enlightening racial intelligence and adaptability, as this is required in a country where resources and versatility are school are a necessity.

The weakness of the present secondary school Mr. McCall declared to be in its failure to give the naturally mechanical mind any outlet, and that the present system was better than pure industrial training, since it brought out every faculty and formed a general education, which made the acquisition of specialist training at a later age, more simple than otherwise it would have been.

A two years' course in "commercial education" was one of the most pressing needs of the education system, Mr. McCall declared. This question was now under consideration by the provincial department of education, and the committee which was to report on the subject was prepared to recommend that the two years' course be given to the students of a general education in science, mathematics and kindred subjects as a basis for training in such specialties as engineering, architecture, etc., or in a more particular trade. Mr. McCall was of the opinion that the greater success had been attained in the two classes were formed in one, and that the establishment of the purely trade school was not desirable at the present time in this city.

S. SCHOOL ASS'N BUYS REAL ESTATE

UNITED ASSOCIATION OF ALBERTA SUNDAY SCHOOLS BUYS PLEASANT GROUNDS AT WABAMUN

To be used as a picnic ground for the Sunday schools of the Edmonton district a parcel of land, six acres in extent on the east shore of Wabamun lake, 45 miles west of the city, has been purchased by the Alberta Sunday school association. It will be improved this year and two or three Sunday school excursions will be run to the property during the summer.

Arrangements are now under way for an excursion of the Methodist Sunday school of the city to Lake Wabamun on July 1st. The G. T. P. is offering a reduced rate that will make it possible for every one to attend and an effort will be made to make it one of the most attractive trips of the season.

The picnic grounds at Wabamun lake, situated on the Indian reserve on the east side of the lake, between the G. T. P. railway line and the shore of the lake. Several cottages are to be erected on the shore by the Edmonton people this summer and on the picnic grounds a pavilion and other buildings will be erected. The land will be generally beautified. The land was purchased from the Indian agency, and the G. T. P. has agreed to erect a platform and stables adjacent to the grounds for the convenience of the picnickers. The grounds will be under the direct control of the Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian Sunday schools of the city and by running a series of excursions to the lake this summer the committee of management will aim to pay the entire debt standing against the property.

At a meeting held in the Y. M. C. A. building yesterday, which was attended by fully 150 men representatives of the various Protestant churches in the city, the initial steps were taken toward the organization of what is to be known as the "Men and Religion Forward Movement," a society formed for the purpose of advancing Christian work among men and boys. The objects of the organization is to bring under the influence of religious teaching the boys as possible before May 1st, 1912.

The speakers yesterday afternoon were: W. W. Chown, who was the origin of the movement, F. W. Patterson, who spoke of the objective of the organization and the plan for the campaign. An eight day campaign will be held in 90 centres of the United States and Canada, of which Edmonton will be one. Committees will be appointed to look after the various branches of the work, such as publicity, finance, rally, conservation and the work in the surrounding towns.

A committee of five men being J. W. Ward, Rev. W. W. Patterson, Rev. G. W. Ward, Mr. W. W. Chown and Mr. W. W. Ward were appointed to select a committee of fifteen, who will in turn increase their number to 100 men, who will furnish a full working staff for Edmonton, Strathcona and the towns in the surrounding district.

Dr. Tordy acted as chairman.
